

A magnet comprises an elect is initially produced as a flat
made of a resilient material t

A magnet comprises an electrical conductor wound over a tubular former. The former is initially produced as a flat former, and it is bent into a tubular shape. The former is made of a resilient material to absorb vibrations of the electrical conductor.

A magnet comprises an electrical conductor wound over a tubular former. The former is initially produced as a flat former, and it is bent into a tubular shape. The former is made of a resilient material to absorb vibrations of the electrical conductor.